Dear Charlie,

I have been referred to you by Don Hoel concerning possible support for a symposium on phenotypic variation to be held at Brookhaven National Laboratory later this year. The relevant correspondence and program information is enclosed herein.

Please have a look at this material at your leisure. I will be out all of next week, but we can chat about it the week after next. I'm thinking about something of the order of $1,000.00, but I have no fixed views. My impression is that Don may be a little cool on the idea, and I tend to respect his judgment, but I don't always follow his advice. In any event there is sufficient motivation here for me to visit with you at CTR's (no longer) new location in New York.

Best wishes.

Sincerely,

Ma
